SOME WILL-OTHERS WILL NOT. WONE OF THE DEMOCRATIC PAPERS OF WEST-CHESTER COUNTY WILL GROW ENTHUS-IASTIC OVER THE TICKET.

There is a standstill in the editorial enterprise of many of the editors of Democratic papers in Westchester County. They are waiting to hear the call of the regular organization before announcing opin-ions of the National platform and ticket. The Democratic editors in the smaller cities claim that olt the regular ticket will be a serious step with them, and one deserving the fullest considera-tion. WHITE PLAINS.

The Tarrytown Village Trustees on Tuesday even-Plains and Elmsford Electric Railway Company is to deposit the $5,000 security for the completion of to July 24. The deposit was to have been made on Friday of last week, but failed because the trolley company cannot come to an agreement with the authorities of the town of Greenburg, about a franchise for the mile and a half of roadway between the boundary line of the village of Tarrytown and Elimeford. The $5.000 deposit is required as a guarantee that the trolley line would complete the laying of its tracks, and have its cars in operation in Tarrytown within a specified time, but it is evident that the company can make no such guarantee until it possesses franchises for the entire length of the extension to be built. The town of Greenburg could afford to be liberal with the trolley company, as it has everything to gain and nothing to lose in having the trolley completed for its entire length from the Hudson River to the White Plains line. At the present time the trolley line ends at Elimsford, and works to the benefit of White Plains merchants, as many residents of Greenburg, living within two miles of Elimsford, go to that place and take the trolley-cars to White Plains, where they make their purchases to a considerable loss for the Tarrytown merchants who formerly had the trade.

Many bicyclists complain of the condition of Railroad-ave. There is a thin coating of earth over the new brick pavement which has been tracked in by new brick pavement which has been tracked in by vehicles from the cross streets. This of itself would not interfere with the wheelmen, and it is after the village sprinkler passes through the street and the dry earth is turned to mud that the cyclists experience the difficulty. The wheelmen think that if the earth was removed there would be no necessity for sprinkling the street, and consequently no danger of the falling of either horses or bicyclists. Though many have urged the cleaning of that part of the avenue which has been paved the village authorities will probably take no action in the matter until the paving contractor has completed his work.

Justice Osborne, of the Supreme Court, in Brooklyn, vesterday denied the application of Morgan the mandamus directing Purdy, as the Village Clerk of North Tarrytown, Westchester County, to turn over the books and papers of his office to Henry dent of the village, Howard H. Merse. The Village Clerk is elected by the Board of Trustees, but at the last election there was a deadlock, and one of those who voted against Purdy, who had held the office for some time, was Mr. Morse. Soon after, Mr. Morse obtained the passage of an act by the Legislature allowing him to appoint a Clerk, when the Board of Trustees failed to do so. He appointed Pielden, but Purdy refused to turn over the books and papers, claiming that the President had no right to make an appointment, because there was no vacancy. Justice Smith granted a mandamus directing Purdy to turn over the documents of the office, but the order was not obeyed, and a motion was made to punish Purdy for contempt. He objected, saving that the should have a reasonable time in which to appeal. Yesterday Justice Osborne handed down a decision in which he says that unless the defendant obeys the mandamus within twenty-four hours of the time that the order is served an attachment will issue against him to punish him for contempt. On November 3, 1894, he appeared in the Cuy Court to have his name, which at that time was Bernhardt Mathias, changed to that by which was Bernhardt Mathias, changed to that by which he is now known. He then swore that he had no notes outstanding against him.

Before Mathias made this statement, it is alleged, Rebecca Goldbaum, twenty years old, of No. 132 Second-ave, had advanced him 8600 to pay his way through college. When he was graduated, however, he deserted her and became engaged to another girl. In order to secure the inoney Mathias, it is said, gave the girl a note, in which, "in consideration of natural love and affection and for other valuables," he bound himself in the sum of $79.00, to be recovered from himself or his acurs, to marry her at any time when he was competent to support her.

Magistrate Kudiich held that, in view of this note, Mathias's testimony before the City Court constituted perjury.

James A. Dumont, Supervising Inspector-General Department, has issued an order directing inspecto of steam vessels not to accept or pass any liferaft or lifeboat for use on steam vessels unless there shall be furnished with each a written guarantee shall be furnished with each a written guarantee by the builder that such raft or boat is constructed in strict accordance with the specifications presented to the Board of Supervising Inspectors at the time of its approval. It is also ordered that on and after August I. 1886, no liferaft or lifeboat shall be accepted or passed unless it shall have permanently attached thereto a metallic plate having thereon in raised letters or figures the name of the maker, the place where manufactured, the shop number, and the date of manufacture, "and, if built of metal, the thickness thereof shall be Birmingham gauge."

This order is due to the discovery that certain steam vessels are carrying lifeboats not built in accordance with the law laid down for their construction.
